WINES

About us...

At Patrimonio, we search for small wineries and niche producers, unveiling the hidden gems of the wine world.

Our mission is to curate an extraordinary collection of wines that capture the essence of the terroir, and tell stories of their heritage.

Our vision is championing small wineries and family-run estates that epitomise the art of winemaking.

Welcome to Patrimonio, your gateway to discover hidden gems.

Champagne Alexis Leconte

Alexis Leconte, representing the sixth generation of Champagne Xavier Leconte, manages vineyards across Troissy, Dormans, Mareuil-Le-Port, Vandieres, and Ay. Continuing his grandfather Aimé's tradition, he synchronizes vineyard and cellar work with lunar phases, respecting natural cycles. Alexis creates high-quality wines, rooted in ancestral practices and the house's style, honoring Mother Nature's wisdom.

Champagne Etienne Sandrin

Since 2015, the domain has been dedicated to biodynamic farming and is DEMETER certified. Their focus is on cultivating gardens, orchards, and vineyards with care and passion to produce the purest food and wine possible. In the cellar, each wine reflects its unique plot and vintage, with minimal intervention, allowing the land's true essence to come through. They take great joy in sharing their wines and family meals with those who appreciate simple, honest products. With a commitment to quality and authenticity, they aim to create both exceptional products and meaningful experiences rooted in biodynamic principles.

Domaine Servy-Douhay

Located in the historic village of Sercy at the gateway to the Côte Chalonnaise, the Servy family is transitioning from a century of diversified farming to a dedicated focus on estate-bottled wines. Led by Pauline and Romain, the estate draws on four generations of heritage—centered in a 12th-century château cellar—to cultivate seven hectares of vines using virtuous, soil-focused practices and massal selection. By prioritizing spontaneous vinification and low-intervention aging, they aim to authentically reflect the unique terroir of their ancestral plots, such as the historic Les Poiseuils.

Domaine Aurore Bachelet

After five years working with her father, Vincent, in Chassagne Montrachet, Aurore started her own domain on the heights of Santenay. Its cellars and vat room are at the foot of the Three Crosses in a true haven of peace.

Aurore produces the two emblematic grape varieties of Burgundy: the Pinot Noir and the Chardonnay. For each vintage, it strives to respect the Burgundian identity.

Domaine Marcel Couturier

Marcel Couturier, a visionary winemaker from Fuissé, crafts white Burgundy showcasing Mâconnais' potential. Raised in a farming family, his uncle's vineyard ignited his passion. Since his inaugural 2005 vintage, Marcel tends 10 hectares of Chardonnay, including old vines across Southern Mâconnais. Joined by his children, Cladie and Auxence, their shared zeal drives organic and biodynamic aspirations. Focusing on single vineyard expressions, their wines exude crispness, purity, and unique character.

Vincent Royet, a fourth-generation winegrower in the Côtes du Couchois, is dedicated to preserving tradition and promoting the region's emerging appellation. Managing 13 hectares of vines alongside his father, Jean-Claude Royet, he focuses on cultivating quality terroir. Vincent's passion drives his efforts to develop and elevate the young Couchois Coast appellation, blending expertise and family heritage.

Domaine Pernot Pere et Fils

The Pernot estate was founded in the early 1900s by Claude Pernot, starting with a vineyard in Croix Violette given by writer Stephen Liégeard. It later expanded around Brochon to 7 hectares in Burgundy, producing Pinot Noir under the Côte de Nuits Villages and Gevrey-Chambertin appellations.

Pascal Pernot, the fourth generation, took over in 2012 after studying in Dijon, continuing the family tradition with his own refined style and modern approach.

Domaine Phillipe Bouzereau

The Phillipe Bouzereau estate, situated in a historic Cistercian vineyard in Meursault, has been family-run for generations. The estate combines traditional expertise with a commitment to sustainable viticulture. Managed by brothers Charles and Philippe, they focus on showcasing the unique terroirs of Burgundy through evolving vinification techniques. Their wines offer a deep exploration of Burgundy's finest regions, from Chassagne-Montrachet to Corton.

Domaine L'Austral

L'Austral's genesis traces back to a transformative journey. Pauline, Breton, and Laurent, disillusioned by conventional careers, embarked on a year-long odyssey seeking connection with nature. Their Australian agricultural immersion ignited a passion for winemaking. Returning to France, Pauline pursued oenology training while inspired by mentors like Melaric and Castle Tour Grise. In 2016, Francoise & Philippe Gourdon entrusted them with 4 hectares of biodynamic vines. With meticulous mentorship and a commitment to organic practices, L'Austral was born. Their story encapsulates the essence of dreaming, learning, and embracing the journey to create wines that reflect their passion and dedication.

Domaine Des Ouches

The Gambier family, with eight generations of winemaking, is led by Thomas and Denis at their 17-hectare vineyard in Ingrandes de Touraine, Bourgueil AOC. They craft terroir-driven red wines and a rosé highlighting Cabernet Franc. Using clay-limestone soils for slow maturation, they focus on meticulous practices like manual harvesting and barrel aging to produce refined, concentrated wines.

Domaine Amelie & Charles Sparr

In 2017, Charles Sparr, an eighth-generation vigneron, and Amelie of the Barmès-Buecher family combined their vineyards to create a domaine. With 30 acres across seven villages, they produce organic and biodynamic wines. Their Alsace Riesling showcases stone fruit and citrus, while their Pinot Noir offers rich aromas and flavors, reflecting a progressive approach to Alsace winemaking.

Domaine Melanie Pfister

Mélanie is the 8th generation to lead the Pfister wine business in Dahlenheim, northern Alsace. The region's cooler, more exposed climate results in wines that are fresher and punchier than the typical Alsace style. With an impressive career, Mélanie has worked at prestigious wineries such as Zind-Humbrecht, Méo-Camuzet, Château Cheval Blanc, Château d'Yquem, and Craggy Range. After taking over in 2006, she brought innovative winemaking ideas while respecting her father's legacy. In 2018, she began transitioning to organic practices and was the first non-German to join the 'Fair n Green' certification, promoting sustainability and fair practices in winemaking.

Domaine Alain Chabanon

Alain Chabanon, raised by teachers, initially found vineyard work unappealing, dreaming of raising cattle. After studying agronomy, his encounters with winemakers led him to specialize in oenology. He established a biodynamic vineyard in Montpeyroux, avoiding chemicals and fertilizers. Certified biodynamic since 2011, his wines focus on purity, terroir, and minimal intervention for exceptional quality.

Domaine Pas De L'escalette

Julien and Delphine Zernott’s 20-hectare estate, located in Pégairolles de l'Escale and Lauroux, features fifty limestone terraces with many old vines. Since 2003, the couple has crafted precise, high-quality wines, especially notable for their exceptional whites and elegant single-plot vintages. Their expertise ensures this beautiful terroir produces wines of depth and character.

Clos du Gravillas

Nicole, from Narbonne, and John, from Kentucky, made a bold life choice in 1996, leaving the wider world for the rocky plateau of St Jean de Minervois. They embraced the unique terroir of white phonolithic gravel, creating wines with a distinct minerality. Their 9-hectare vineyards, nurtured through organic and biodynamic practices, focus on biodiversity, with fruit trees, cover crops, and a commitment to sustainability. Their wines, shaped by this lunar-like landscape, are known for their delicious depth and character.

Domaine Gardies

Domaine Gardiès' vineyards in Espira de l'Agly, with black schists and limestone soils, produce wines with finesse and power, influenced by Mediterranean winds. Vingrau, the family's original land, features old Grenache and Carignan vines on clay-limestone soils, defining the estate's signature vintages. The Génégals plots, higher in Vingrau, bring balance and freshness to the red wines.

Domaine Roucas Toumba

From bringing the grapes to the village cooperative cellar when he started, Eric decided in 2006 to create his own cellar and thus produce wines from this fragmented vineyard made up of part of old vines.”

Fauna, flora and birds have always interested Eric, so organic vineyard management quickly became obvious, a lifestyle choice far from organic business.

Maison Bruyere & David

Maison Bruyère & David was founded in 2018 when Justin Bruyère and Sylvain David combined their vineyards and expertise. Their complementary talents allow them to craft contemporary wines that express the unique terroir of the Northern Rhône Valley, including Saint Joseph, Condrieu, Côte Rôtie, and Cornas, with a focus on Syrah and Viognier. The estate is committed to sustainable farming practices that respect the natural balance of the land. Today, they manage 10 hectares of vineyards and plan to expand in the near future, continuing to create wines that showcase both their vision and the region’s distinct character.

Domaine Zuria

It was on a family property that the estate's first vines were born.
The adventure began in 2010 on a plot of land owned by Dominique Zuria, the last "Pialincu", a man living in the village of Bonifacio and going to work on the "piale", the limestone plateau, on the back of a donkey. Without a doubt, culture of the land is a family affair!
Today the plots are distributed around the new cellar and the town of Bonifacio, allowing exploration of various terroirs:

In this climate conducive to all eruptions of life, record mild temperatures but also water resources, it was necessary to invent the appropriate grape variety: petit manseng. The Béarnaise identity embedded in an ambition for quality: what a beautiful path of life.
